These hours may also go toward BYU's 30-hour residency requirement for graduation.</li> <li>For students accepted into the major after August 1, 2014, grades below C in any required coursework in a teaching major or teaching minor will not be accepted. Teacher candidates must maintain a total GPA of 3.0 or higher throughout the program and to qualify for student teaching. For details on admission and retention requirements for teaching majors and teaching minors, see Educator Preparation Program (EPP) Requirements in the undergraduate catalog.</li> <li>Beginning German courses (101, 102, 201, 202) will be waived for students having comparable training or experience. Consult department for information about placement examinations.</li> <li>All students will download a portfolio packet when they enroll in their first class in the German department. This portfolio will travel with the students as they progress from course to course through the degree program. It will serve as a checklist to guide them through their course of study, will record their language proficiency, and will also be a repository for all papers and creative work produced by the student in the department. The completed portfolio will be reviewed in Germ 400R in conjunction with the senior proficiency exam.</li> <li>A senior capstone paper is required for graduation.</li> <li>German 400R is designed to help students of all levels who desire additional skill in speaking, etc.</li> <li>In their final year, graduating seniors must register for 1 credit hour of Germ 400R and 1 credit hour of Germ 401 concurrently in conjunction with the senior proficiency examination (offered fall and winter only). A minimum rating of Advanced-Low is recommended. Portfolios should be completed and will be reviewed at the time of this exam.</li> <li>Students planning graduate studies in German should begin a second foreign language.</li> <li>The major culminates in a "professional year," consisting of Germ 377, 378, Sc Ed 379, and other courses of the student's choice taken fall semester. The winter semester consists solely of Sc Ed 476R, student teaching. A continuous year-long placement in public schools is arranged for all three courses.</li> <li>The Department of German and Russian strongly recommends that StDev 317, a 2-credit-hour course, be taken at the end of the sophomore year or the beginning of the junior year. Because liberal arts degrees provide preparation in a variety of useful fields rather than a single career track, this course is recommended to help liberal arts students focus on specific educational and occupational goals and to identify the career options or educational opportunities available to them. The course will introduce them to the resources needed for accessing information about graduate schools, internships, careers, and career development. Students will learn basic employment strategies, including the steps necessary for obtaining employment related to their own specialty.</li> <li>A teaching minor in another subject is strongly recommended. Teaching opportunities in public schools may be significantly reduced without a second teaching subject that a teaching minor provides.</li> </ul>	Declare the major at the Humanities Advisement Center and contact the German teaching major advisor to complete a German proficiency examination. German Internship Program (Germ 211R/311R, IAS

397R; Germ 399R or IAS 399R). The BYU German program is pleased to offer a broad range of short-term internship opportunities in German-speaking countries. Students receive individual help to find and prepare for a work experience that will improve their German-language skills and provide a meaningful context for their academic studies. Completion of Germ 202, or an approved equivalent, with at least a B+ grade is required.

Foreign Language Student Residence (Germ 211R,

311R). An opportunity to live with other students who have pledged to use only German within the house and with head residents who are native speakers of German. Universities in Germany charge no tuition, so, even though living costs are generally higher, with careful planning and modest financial support, most students find they can study at "Provo parity," that is, for about the same amount as a year of study in Provo. For advice about how to enroll and what financial support is available, contact the department office.

CAREERS:

Experience with the intellectual, artistic, and spiritual expressions of other cultures and of their own culture helps students qualify for advanced study at graduate and professional schools, especially in linguistics, literature, language teaching methodology, library science, humanities, business, law, and medicine. Those who accept employment on completion of the BA degree frequently serve in a government agency, in international business, or in education.
