

BA in COMPARATIVE LITERATURE (554220) MAP Sheet
 Department of Humanities, Classics, and Comparative Literature
 For students entering the degree program during the 2016–2017 curricular year.

UNIVERSITY CORE AND GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS				PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS (38–58 total hours)
UNIVERSITY CORE REQUIREMENTS				• The Department of Comparative Arts and Letters strongly recommends that StDev 317, a 1-credit-hour course, be taken at the end of the sophomore year or the beginning of the junior year. Because liberal arts degrees provide preparation in a variety of useful fields rather than a single career track, this course is recommended to help liberal arts students focus on specific educational and occupational goals and to identify the career options or educational opportunities available to them. The course will introduce them to the resources needed for accessing information about graduate schools, internships, careers, and career development. Students will learn basic employment strategies, including the steps necessary for obtaining employment related to their own specialty. Acquire a thorough knowledge of two language* traditions relevant to individual program of study (one of these may be English for students who emphasize the Anglo-American literary tradition) (approximately 16–32 hours). Competence will normally be demonstrated in course work, but an examination may be required. If planning graduate work in comparative literature, students should gain reading knowledge of both an additional modern language and a classical language. Complete a reading list (determined in consultation with a faculty advisor) and submit a writing portfolio. During the final semester, enroll in CmLit 497 to complete a written examination on the reading list and to have the portfolio reviewed. CmLit 201 & 202, or 211 & 212, are strongly recommended, in part because the reading list core consists of texts treated in these courses. Students who do not complete a literature-based civilization sequence are at a disadvantage in working systematically through the list. Course configuration must be approved by department advisor. Complete the following: HColl 110 Intro to College of Humanities (One hour required) 2.0V Complete the following: CmLit 310* Intro to Literary Analysis & Comp Literature (Prerequisite: reading knowledge of at least one foreign language) 3.0 CmLit 342 Asian Literary Traditions 3.0 CmLit 497 Reading List Examination (Prerequisite: Cm Lit 310, 342 and three CmLit 400-level seminars.) 1.0 Note: CmLit 310 and reading knowledge of at least one foreign language are prerequisite to all upper-division comparative literature courses. In addition, completion of 342 and three comparative literature 400-level seminars is prerequisite to 497.

THE DISCIPLINE:

Comparative Literature is the study of literature in its totality. The Comparative Literature major not only acquaints students with literary study beyond the confines of any particular national tradition but also with the relationship between literature and other areas of knowledge. Combining the synthesizing skills and knowledge related to individual national literatures, the comparative literature major utilizes a wide range of linguistic and philosophical knowledge unique to an undergraduate program. Pursued as a major, the field offers students unusual latitude in developing a broad and full program in the liberal arts, as well as developing competence in reasoning, language, writing, and research--essential for later independent learning.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES:

Comparative Literature majors are well prepared for graduate programs in languages and literature and for employment in the foreign service, library science, business, education, and tourism. In addition, comparative literature is an outstanding preprofessional major for those interested in law, public administration, business management, and medicine.

CAREER STRATEGIES:

Social/Community Services—research and staff positions in nonprofit, arts, and social service organizations, public interest research groups, museums, libraries. Counseling in mental health organizations. Develop excellent verbal and written communication skills, gain related work experience, acquire master's degree in Library Science, take counseling courses, obtain master's degree in social work or counseling for therapy positions.

Education—teaching, research, administration, student affairs in college, universities, adult education programs, vocational/technical education, professional or graduate schools. Obtain PhD for most teaching and research positions, gain related experience, combine with master's degree in specialized area, secure internship in area of interest.

Research—college and universities, government agencies, insurance companies, publishers, museums, political organizations, public interest research groups, nonprofit organizations. Obtain PhD for college and university advanced positions, develop excellent research and verbal and written communication skills; obtain related experience.

Business—management, sales/marketing, human resources, marketing research, advertising, finance, insurance, lobbying with business firms, insurance companies, bookstores, marketing research departments/organizations, museums, travel agencies, real estate, advertising agencies. Complete a business minor. Gain related experience. Seek internship. Earn leadership role in campus organizations. Take advertising courses. Take selected computer courses.

Note: Contact the college advisement center for help in outlining an efficient schedule.

Note: Students are encouraged to complete an average of 15 credit hours each semester or 30 credit hours each year, which could include spring and/or summer terms. Taking fewer credits substantially increases the cost and the number of semesters to graduate.
